Stepping Up To The Plate for Parks and Recreation

Citizen Board Members have a tremendous opportunity “to step up to the plate” in support of their parks and recreation department. The purpose of this teleconference is to give CB members an understanding of this responsibility and the necessary tools to be an effective voice for parks and recreation. As a CB member you will face many issues in your community. It is important to know that you are not alone and that there are resources to help you in making important decisions. Finally, in these tight economic times, the CBM role of advocate can be strategic to the survival of parks and recreation departments and their budgets. Elected officials look to their appointed citizen boards for advice when hard budget decisions have to be made. Your parks and recreation department needs you.

Are you ready to step up to the plate?

About Our Speaker:

Tom Wells,
President of Wellspoken Company

Tom has served the North Carolina Recreation & Park Association (NCRPA) and the National Recreation & Park Association (NRPA) for over thirty years. Tom not only distinguished himself through his outstanding performance as Superintendent of the North Carolina State Parks system during a period of unprecedented growth, but served his profession at the highest levels through his leadership.

Tom is currently Chairman and CFO of the NC Recreation and Parks Scholarship Foundation Board of Directors. He served as a member of the NC Recreation Directors Conference Planning Committee and a co-founder of the NCRPA Citizen Board Member (CBM) Annual Conference. Tom has also served on two CBM Boards. He is responsible for starting 33 advisory boards in the NC State park system, the only known state park system that has advisory boards across its state parks.

RRS is pleased to announced that several special teleconference sites will be open for this teleconference. If one of the special sites is more convenient for you, please contact your RRS Consultant for specific directions to that site. If you have a college or community college in your area that would be more convenient for you to attend, please contact LuAnn Bryan at: luann.bryan@ncdenr.gov and she will check on availability.

Special thanks to NC State University and the NC Research and Education Network for their assistance and support of this teleconference.
